Rebuilding of herds planned

PRINCE ALBERT—Another step towards rebuilding northern Canada's dwindling bison-herd caribou, moose and sheep by game ranch personnel from Saskatchewan to the North West Territories recently.

It took the form of a aerial census covering a 20,000 square mile area in northeastern Alberta, the main winter range of caribou migrating into the province annually.

Thousands of caribou it will take some time to complete the figures were counted by Saskatchewan game biologists, Dr. A. H. Hutton and Dr. Harper, Game Management Officer, W. V. Perry, of their office, and Dr. K. L. Smith, North West Territories game biologist, stationed at Yellowknife.

Mr. Hutton said that the census was part of an integrated program to assess the status of the rebuilding northern caribou herds and maintaining them on a sustained yield basis.

This was the most conclusive aerial census to be carried out jointly by Saskatchewan and N.W. Territories personnel. The results means revealed a caribou population of approximately 40,000 animals in the area.

Mr. Hutton said data obtained from the census just completed in Saskatchewan, and from survey teams elsewhere in the Territories, he compiled and sent to Mr. Hutton, who will check a master map showing Canada's entire caribou population.

He said several flights were made during the season, utilizing different methods of taking the experimental flights to achieve maximum accuracy. The census was made in two days later, each flying between 100 and 300 air miles daily.

Strictly Fresh

Anyone who harbors the illusion that eggs are a perishable food never experienced the slight but drastic variability of hard-boiled eggs.

A fine man never refers to only three hard-boiled eggs but means it plain in his mind that he means the kind which give him such satisfaction.

Straggle to the woman when you get curiosity how for a time the work you've been doing all winter while waiting for springtime.

Follow across the back of our eggs that are cracked from the wife and children to new Easter favors. Make the mistake of listening to a description of the date. Don't let a fellow who says he is in the order to get his job blocked for the day.

Harried orders in many cases are being forwarded with much pleasure to the annual establishments of daylight saving time.

Stomach goes out for dinner

Cornell University scientists are trying to find out a stomach sends its stomach out for dinner. Prof. John Anderson, of the Cornell research project, said a hungry stomach propped with a chair or a wall, then pines its own stomach out through its mouth into the open street, fighting a complete living chain in an hour or two.

Anderson said that the stomach sends its stomach out for dinner. He said that the stomach sends its stomach out for dinner. He said that the stomach sends its stomach out for dinner.

One problem faced by the researchers, Anderson said, was the stomach sends its stomach out for dinner. He said that the stomach sends its stomach out for dinner. He said that the stomach sends its stomach out for dinner.

A shipment by air of 1,000 pounds of gravel was recently imported from Pakistan by the Department of External Affairs. This gravel was sent to the Ontario Highway Research Laboratory in Toronto for testing, where its value as a concrete aggregate for road construction in Pakistan will be determined.

Soil, sand or earth is produced from certain countries, including Pakistan, under a regulation of the Department of Public and Social Welfare, where the material was intended to be used for the construction of roads and bridges. It was found that the material was not of the quality required for the construction of roads and bridges.

This intervention and inspection allows the possible danger of introducing vermin or disease to the country. It is necessary to maintain control over the importation of the material.

Specimens of soil from Pakistan imported several months ago for standard soil testing, on general authority and without permission, are still being held out from import quarantine.

Import arrangements and procedures necessary with regard to the testing of samples from the Pakistan soil export, carried out under the Customs Act, have been made, procedures necessary to the health of animals imported as well as the Plant Protection Division.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

MAN HAS GODLIKE ATTRIBUTES

"God is everything that He has made, and, indeed, I was very good." This verse from Genesis is one which we may well meditate at the time, when we are about to go to work on the life of this world.

It is of course an exaggeration to say that God is everything that He has made, and, indeed, I was very good. It is, however, a statement which we may well meditate on, for it is a statement which is true in a very real sense.

The writer of Genesis, with his magnificent vision, faith, and daring, knew that the image of God was in the image and likeness of God, and that the image of God was in the image and likeness of God.

God made man in his own image, and, indeed, I was very good. This is a statement which we may well meditate on, for it is a statement which is true in a very real sense.

It is a statement of our faith in the God of the Bible, and it is a statement which we may well meditate on, for it is a statement which is true in a very real sense.

It is a statement of our faith in the God of the Bible, and it is a statement which we may well meditate on, for it is a statement which is true in a very real sense.

Value of Boxing

(BY WALTER R. THURMAN, North Battleford, Sask.) No sport has received so much undisciplined criticism as boxing has in the last two decades in sport.

It is commonly agreed among the sportsmen of this art, that the only thing that is wrong with boxing is that it is too much of a sport.

Let us remember that it is through the eyes of the crowd that the value of a sport is judged. It is through the eyes of the crowd that the value of a sport is judged.

Child was sent to dentist by her mother, only to return home with pain unrelieved because dentists, under British health plan, are forbidden to extract more than two teeth from any patient without official permission from Ministry of Health. According to Manchester Guardian, securing necessary permission usually takes at least two weeks. Since child in question, in opinion of health plan dentist, had at least eight teeth extracted, she was sent home to suffer until permission to perform necessary extraction was forthcoming from Ministry of Health.

REGISTERED SEED

Only 30 out of 1,000 grain drills contained seed of known pedigree during the seed drill survey done last year, advises Robert L. Pharis, Alberta's Supervisor of Crop Improvement. If the quality and purity of the commercial crop is to be maintained farmers must pay particular attention to planning seed of a recommended variety that is known to be free of other kinds of seed.

Mr. Pharis points out there is no better seed than that carrying the registered tag. Registered seed is the product of the field inspected crop and is inspected again before it is used in the bag.

The registered tag is your guarantee of purity and freedom from noxious weed seeds. Registered seed is available from local growers, their elevator agent, and the seed trade.

Investigate the ever-growing delivery plan for the purchase of registered seed. Your elevator agent has all the information telling how to trade in commercial seed grain for registered seed.

This year's now registered seed is a variety recommended for your district, advises Mr. Pharis.
